Growing up in a musical family, singer-songwriter Damian Muller has been performing around Richmond, Virginia most of his life. His "Steady Work" and "You've still Got IT" CD's of his own songs have received radio airplay on music programs of folk, gospel and bluegrass across the country and abroad. He enjoys playing a wide variety of musical styles from classical to bluegrass. Currently, he performs on bass with the Richmond Philharmonic Orchestra. He has won numerous awards on bass, banjo and dulcimer at fiddler's convention in Virginia and North Carolina. He especially enjoys the opportunity to sing his own uplifting true-life songs of family, faith and fun.

Originally from Knoxville, Tennessee, Kathy Muller is a retired music teacher. She has taught band, chorus and general music at K-12 levels. She has been 'Teacher of the Year' at Goochland Middle School and presented at the statewide Virginia Music Educators' Convention. She is an accomplished bassoonist with a music degree from the University of Tennessee and Master of music degree from LSU. She currently plays bassoon with the Richmond Philharmonic Orchestra and rings with the handbell choir at St. Michael's church. She sings with her husband Damian at churches and senior homes around the Richmond area. She is also the proud grandmother of two!
